DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 3-5, it is not clear whether another processor and a strobe light other than the processor and the strobe light recited in claim 2 are being claimed or are they the same as the processor and strobe light in claim 2. For examining purposes, it is presumed that they are the same. Clarification or correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stadler (US Patent No. 5,559,491) in view of He et al. (US Patent No. 6,452,488).

Claim 2:

Stadler discloses a system comprising:

- a. A vehicle having a passenger compartment and a power source (inherent) and at least one keypad being capable of sending a signal (col. 4, second paragraph);
- b. A processor 104 operatively coupled to the power source and to keypad, the processor capable of receiving an incoming signal and sending an outgoing signal (to devices 116-122), the processor receiving an incoming signal from the keypad when a specific emergency code is entered in the keypad, the processor also being capable of sending an outgoing signal when an incoming signal is received from any sensor 108-126.

Stadler fails to disclose a strobe light. However, the use of a strobe light as a theft indicating device for alerting the police and other that the is stolen is known in the art as taught in He et al. (see fig. 1). In light of this, teaching it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to incorporate this feature in the system of Stadler because Stadler suggests the indication of theft attempt by using visual indication device such as emergency lights.

The light in He does not have a non-deployed state. However, one skilled in the art would have readily recognized that the light of in He would be functionally equivalent as one that has a non-deployed and deployed states and would make the light in Stadler and He deployable as desired.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 1 is allowed.

6. Claims 3-5 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Claim 6 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
